124 Killed In New Japanese Air Crash

Robert Lee Powers Claimed

Injuries Suffered In Fall Take Life Of Chester Boy

A nine-year-old Chester boy died at Children's Hospital in Pittsburgh Friday night from injuries suffered in a fall down a stairwell at Chester Junior High School earlier in the day.

He was Robert Lee Powers Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Lee Powers of Route 30.

IT WAS the second tragedy experienced by the Powers within a week, their home having been swept by fire last Sunday.

Chester police said Friday's accident occurred as the boy was waiting for a school bus in the yard of the junior high school. He apparently slipped off a railing which guarded the stairwell, striking his head on the concrete 15 feet below.

The boy was taken by Arner's ambulance to East Liverpool City Hospital. He then was transferred to the Pittsburgh hospital, where he died about 7:30.

Bobby was born in East Liverpool Aug. 9, 1956. He was a fourth-grade pupil at the Chester Elementary School. He attended the Chester Methodist Church and was a member of the Chester Cub Pack.

IN ADDITION to his parents, he leaves a brother, Kevin Lee Powers, and a sister, Leslie Jean Powers, all at home; the paternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Hubert F. Powers of Chester, and the maternal grandmother, Mrs. Geneva Butcher of Georgetown.

Services will be held Monday at 2 p. m. at the Chester Arner Funeral Chapel by the Rev. Forrest J. Campbell. Burial will be in Mill Creek Hill Cemetery, near Hookstown.

Friends may call at the chapel Sunday.

GOTEMBA, Japan (AP) — A British passenger jet mysteriously burst into flame and smoke over Mt. Fuji today and crashed on the sacred mountain's slopes, killing all 124 aboard.

Among them were 84 Americans — 75 in a single tour group sponsored by the Thermo King Corp., a refrigeration firm of Minneapolis, Minn.

The British Overseas Airways Corp. plane had a crew of 11. It was the second major plane crash in the Tokyo area in less than 24 hours and the third in a month, with a death toll of more than 300.

What caused the crash was not known. There were treacherous winds in the area over the majestic snow-covered extinct volcano. Some aviation experts said the four-engine blue and white Boeing 707 may have been shaken apart. Reports that there had been a collision with a second plane were discounted.

Witnesses told of seeing it billowing white smoke, then black smoke. Others said they saw flames. Several said it seemed to flutter to the earth like a leaf, disintegrating in its fall.

Almost 1,000 Japanese soldiers, police and firemen worked into the night carrying the bodies from the plane down to this town five miles away.

Rescue workers said they had found all the bodies.

As they were taken from the plane they were wrapped in gray military blankets and placed in wooden coffins.

There was no sign of extensive fire or explosion aboard the plane. Rescuers said many of the bodies thrown from the plane were unmarked and unburned.

Japan's Weather Bureau issued several wind warnings just minutes before the plane — bound next for Hong Kong on a round-the-world flight — crashed about six miles below the volcanic crater after 2 p. m.

Weather officials in Tokyo said sustained winds around the 12,389-foot Mt. Fuji reached nearly 70 miles an hour at noon and 3 p. m. 86 miles an hour with gusts likely higher.

One Japanese witness said he saw the plane flying straight up then a wing broke off, he said, and the jetliner plummeted trailing smoke.

Mt. Fuji is 55 miles west southwest of Tokyo.

The crash brought the death toll in three major plane crashes in Japan in the past month to 321.

Sixty-four of the 72 persons aboard a Canadian Pacific Airlines DC8 were killed Friday night when the plane crashed and burned after it snagged on the approach lights at Tokyo's International Airport and hit a concrete retaining wall.

The crash of a Japanese Boeing 727 jet into Tokyo Bay a month ago was the world's worst single air disaster. It claimed 133 lives. A helicopter searching for some of the bodies that are still missing crashed today, killing two.

A Tokyo travel agency said most of the Americans aboard the BOAC plane were dealers of the Thermo King Corp. of Minneapolis, Minn., who were on a tour with their wives.

Hotel officials in Hong Kong said they were holding 80 reservations for members of the Thermo King Orient tour.

A spokesman for the Thermo King outlet in San Francisco said 68 dealers and their wives from all over the United States are now in the Far East after leaving the United States a week ago.

The spokesman said he did not know whether they were aboard the BOAC flight that crashed.

The big jetliner arrived in Japan from San Francisco Friday but was diverted some 600 miles south of Tokyo because of heavy fog. The plane and passengers spent the night at the U.S. Itazuke military base and then flew into Tokyo today under cloudless skies.

BOAC officials said 106 of the 113 passengers boarded the flight in Tokyo while the others came from San Francisco. Ninety-six were bound for Hong Kong, eight for Rangoon, Burma, one for Karachi, Pakistan and one for London, BOAC said.

The plane took off from Tokyo at 1:58 p. m. — 11:58 p. m. EST. Police at Gotemba said it crashed about 2:10 p. m. — 12:10 a. m. EST.

For more than two hours BOAC officials in Tokyo refused to confirm that one of their planes had crashed but finally announced the crash of Flight 911 at a news conference. They said an investigation team was en route to the scene.

At least 119 bodies were re-

One Of Worst Recorded In History

Blizzard Relaxes Its Grip On 2 North Central States

FARGO, N. D. (AP)—A deadly blend of heavy snow and screaming winds began to relax its paralyzing grip on a vast section of the north central United States today.

The Weather Bureau called it one of the most savage blizzards in recorded history.

With blinding snow and winds clocked at over 100 miles per hour in some areas, it moved with punishing slowness northward from western South Dakota to northeastern Minnesota.

Behind it lay scores of communities so paralyzed they looked like ghost towns.

There were three known dead, all in Minnesota. But at least 27 persons were missing, the majority in North Dakota, where the storm's fury seemed greatest.

So brutal was the blizzard that tragedy stalked what would ordinarily be the safest, simplest tasks.

Near Woodworth, in central North Dakota, 13-year-old Betty Diederich vanished while on a trip to close a banging chicken coop door 100 feet from her parents' home. Her mother, Mrs. Raymond Diederich, nearly died in a vain, groping search for her daughter in the swirling snow, but made it back to the house on hands and knees.

The mercury neared zero at the height of the storm. Mountainous drifts made such a thing as a level snow reading rare. But where North Dakota gauges worked, they measured depths up to 34 inches at Devils Lake.

The storm shattered almost all activities dependent on outdoor travel. Schools closed. Entire business districts shut down. Travel by any means was impossible in many areas.

Uncounted thousands of travelers were stranded. Lucky ones, like 120 at tiny Sterling Corners, in central North Dakota, had food and shelter. Some others made it to farm houses.

An estimated 350 persons were caught after a basketball tournament in the Doland-Redfield area in central South Dakota. Two hundred huddled in a service station complex, 80 in one farm, 80 in another.

For a time, nearly 500 passengers were stalled in three transcontinental Northern Pacific trains in central North Dakota. Early today, 190 of them remained on an eastbound train at Eagle Butte, some 50 miles west of Bismarck. Food and fuel for the train were brought to them.

Another train disgorged 135 passengers to public shelter in nearby New Salem, and still another 170 persons found haven after their train was returned to Jamestown.

Lt. Gov. Charles Tighe declared North Dakota a disaster area. Gov. William Guy was reported hurrying home from an Arizona vacation.

With hoped-for moderating weather today, Tighe said National Guard and U.S. Air Force helicopters and ski-equipped planes, along with snowmobiles, would seek missing or stranded persons.

Power and phone service was crippled over wide areas. In Pierre, S.D., National Guardsmen were called out to evacuate hundreds of persons without power in one section of the capital city.

Fulbright Sees OK Of Arms Fund

Senate Committee Defeats Moves For $100 Million Slash

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. J.W. Fulbright, D-Ark., may be in the mood to keep jousting with the State Department over foreign aid for Viet Nam — but he doesn't think his Senate Foreign Relations Committee is.

The way he senses "the mood of the committee," the $415-million authorization — mostly for Southeast Asia — will be approved by the committee Monday "just about as it was when it was submitted" by President Johnson—without any policy riders.

Two moves to put Congress on record as opposing the widening of the war in South Viet Nam ran into heavy opposition at a closed meeting Friday. Fulbright told reporters afterward that the mood of the committee made it appear unlikely either would be adopted.

The committee defeated moves to cut the $100 million in presidential contingency funds in the measure.

Administration critics led by Sen. Frank Church, D-Idaho, did succeed in getting the committee to include in its report its intention to subtract from next fiscal year's foreign aid bill at least the $275 million included in the supplemental measure for direct South Viet Nam aid.

The committee asked Secretary of State Dean Rusk to draft his views on the two policy riders—one by Sen. George S. McGovern, D-S.D., on them for Monday.

2 Astronauts Are Buried At Arlington

WASHINGTON (AP) — Two members of the U.S. astronaut team — victims of a plane crash — have been buried with full military honors at Arlington National Cemetery.

Twelve fellow astronauts served as pallbearers Friday during the rites for Elliot M. See Jr. and Charles A. Bassett II. They were killed Monday when their T38 jet trainer struck a building while approaching a St. Louis airport.

The widows of See and Bassett attended the separate Navy and Air Force ceremonies. Bassett's two young sons and daughter and the two See daughters also watched — sometimes tearfully.

See, 38, formerly a Navy pilot, and Bassett, 34, an Air Force major, were to have piloted the Gemini 9 spacecraft on its rendezvous — and — docking mission and space-walk next May.

Rusk Powers Increased

LBJ Gives Him Stronger Grip On Foreign Affairs

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER AP Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON (AP) — With a new order from President Johnson, the State Department appears to have recovered the power and prestige in running U.S. foreign policy that it began losing in the closing years of the Dwight D. Eisenhower administration.

The White House announced Friday that Johnson has directed Secretary of State Dean Rusk "to assume responsibility to the full extent permitted by law for the over-all direction, coordination and supervision of interdepartmental activities of the United States government overseas (less exempted military activities)."

Simply put, this means that hereafter State Department officials are to make the initial decisions on foreign policy moves, subject to the President's final decision, except in South Viet Nam.

This assignment of power radically changes the situation that developed early in the administration of President John F. Kennedy, who vested extensive practical authority in his own White House staff.

The process had begun earlier, however. Following the death of Secretary of State John Foster Dulles in 1959, President Eisenhower decided to embark on a personal crusade for peace in the world. He also undertook personal direction of critical areas of U.S. foreign policy, leaving Secretary Christian A. Herter to serve as his adviser and administer the State Department.

Johnson began to move away from the centralized Kennedy system early in 1964, his first full year in office. He began to rely much less on McGeorge Bundy, special assistant for international security affairs, and much more on the two Cabinet officers directly involved in foreign operations—Rusk and Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara. The shift to the new way of doing business developed slowly over a two-year period. Thus the order issued Friday is basically a public acknowledgment of an existing system.

One cornerstone of the system is the close relationship Johnson has with Rusk and McNamara. He praises both broadly. Rusk has seemed somewhat more aggressive in the development of foreign policy issues and decisions under Johnson's leadership than he was under Kennedy.

Johnson's move follows Bundy's departure last week from the White House staff. The former Harvard dean became president of the Ford Foundation in New York. While officials denied any real connection, the coincidence apparently underscores the down-grading of the Bundy office in the White House, which was once known as the little State Department.

Viet Cong's Attacked In Operations

U.S. Air Strength At Full Blast For 2nd Straight Day

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — The Viet Nam war reached new fury today with U.S. and Vietnamese troops attacking Communist regulars in two big operations and with air power turned on full blast.

It was the second heavy day for U.S. warplanes. Air Force spokesmen said they hit a surface-to-air missile site 34 miles west of Hanoi Friday night and encountered fire from three Communist MIGs about 80 miles from the North Vietnamese capital.

American Marines and government airborne troops claimed to have killed more than 300 North Vietnamese regulars and Viet Cong in a two-day battle six miles northwest of Quang Ngai and the fight was still going on. The Communists were seen trying to get away but they were in danger of being trapped and annihilated by ground and air assaults.

The 101st Airborne's 1st Brigade operating 12 miles south of Tuy Hoa launched an attack Friday on elements later identified as a reinforced North Vietnamese battalion. They reportedly killed 105 of the enemy and captured 39 weapons including four machine guns.

The U.S. 1st Infantry Division went into the jungles and rubber plantations around Ben Cat, 30 miles north of Saigon today and found a Viet Cong battalion. Patrols sent back the word and a battalion rushed in. The infantry killed 47 Viet Cong, captured 4 and found a base camp. The insurgents finally broke away.

An Army helicopter and an Air Force jet were hit by ground fire while supporting the infantry attack. Both crashed.

The Air Force pilot ejected safely.

The mounting action was accompanied by new forces streaming into the American military machine. There are now 215,000 troops committed.

The Air Force flew 27 missions against intense anti-aircraft fire.

Cornell's Appointed Chester Patrolman

Joseph B. Cornell, 51, of 172 Montana Ave. was named a Chester patrolman during a special meeting of Council Friday night at City Hall.

Operator of a private trash disposal service, Cornell is a lifelong resident of the area. He is married and has five children.

He was chosen from five applicants for the position, vacated following the elevation of Audley Campbell to police chief.

Asks Registration With SACB

Katzenbach Says DuBois Clubs Red-Front Group

WASHINGTON (AP) — Atty. Gen. Nicholas Katzenbach has accused the W.E.B. DuBois Clubs of America—organizer of many anti-Viet Nam war demonstrations last fall—of being a Communist-front organization and asked it to register with the Subversive Activities Control Board.

Leaders of the group, which has 36 chapters and an estimated 2,500 members across the nation, denounced Friday's Justice Department move as "Red-baiting" and denied any affiliation with the Communist party.

Katzenbach, in a petition to the Subversive Activities Control Board, charged that the clubs were created and controlled by the U.S. Communist party.

"Historically, Americans have the freedom to organize in dissent," the attorney general said. "At the same time, in accordance with the law, young people who might consider joining this organization are entitled to know its nature and sponsorship."

Under the 1950 Subversive Activities Control Act, the board will stage hearings on the Communist-front charges. If the group is found to be Communist-dominated, it will be required to list its officers and the sources and distribution of its funds and printing equipment.

A spokesman for the DuBois Clubs described the Justice Department's petition as "part and parcel of the policies of the Johnson administration to suppress and silence critics of the administration's dirty little war in Viet Nam."

Patrick Hallinan, counsel for the club, added:

"Out of the Korean war came Sen. Joseph McCarthy. The situation is so similar we should not be surprised to find a whole new aura of Red-baiting to silence critics."

The man, Oswald S. Pick, 27, of Clifton, N.J., phoned the threat to the Federal Bureau of Investigation office in Washington early Friday morning, agents said.

The caller told the FBI he would be on the Pennsylvania Railroad's Congressional Limited express and challenged them to find him.

They found Pick and about 100 agents were on hand to remove him from the train when it arrived in Philadelphia.

Clutter Files For Mayor In Chester Vote

Candidates for mayor and Third Ward councilman filed Friday in Chester for nomination in the primary elections April 5.

Alvin B. Clutter, 43, of 544 River Dr., filed as a candidate for mayor on the Democratic ticket. A candidate for Hancock County commissioner in 1964, he was defeated in a recount by 25 votes.

Clutter is married and has three sons and a daughter and is a conductor on the railroad at the Weirton Steel Co. He is a member of the American Legion, Veterans of Foreign Wars, Lions Club and is president of the Midget Football League and an officer of a Little League baseball team. He is a member of the Sacred Heart Catholic Church.

Filing as a Democratic candidate for Third Ward councilman was Glen Logston, 36, of 315 Adolphus St. He is married and has two daughters. He attended Chester schools and served with the Army in Germany.

Logston was a candidate for constable in the last election, but lost out in a disputed vote. He is a volunteer fireman and a member of the Lawrenceville American Legion Post, Veterans of Foreign Wars and the Grant District Burial Group.

Today is the filing deadline.

Various Proposals Set By Traffic Commission

A "scatter" light to permit pedestrians to move freely at 5th and Market Sts. may be installed by late next week, the reactivated City Traffic Commission was advised at a meeting Friday night in City Hall.

It was the first meeting of the group in several years after Mayor Willshaw reactivated the commission following a suggestion made by City Council.

MEETING WITH Willshaw and Councilmen Floyd Murray, chairman, and Norman Bucher, members of Council's streets committee were David Sakol, chairman, Ray Wilson, John Kelly and Don Burbick. The fifth member, Dan Henderson, was absent.

The group inspected the light and control which are being checked for timing before being erected. Under the "scatter" light, pedestrians will be able to move freely in any direction on the "walk" signal as all vehicular traffic is halted.

The commission prepared a long list of suggestions which it will consider and then recommend to Council for action.

The major suggestion was to convert the short stretch of St. Clair Ave. from 6th St. to Broadway into a one-way street for northbound traffic only. At present, the street handles two-way traffic, but southbound motorists must make a left turn across the northbound lane to turn onto E. 6th St.

OTHER proposals the commission will consider include: A possible traffic signal at Pennsylvania and Virginia Ave., with an electric eye device to halt Pennsylvania Ave. traffic only when a car is pulling out of Virginia Ave.

(A light was erected at the intersection several years ago after complaints that traffic on Virginia Ave. had to wait for long periods because of heavy traffic on Pennsylvania Ave. It was later removed, however, because of traffic jams on Pennsylvania Ave. since the signal functioned even when no traffic was moving on Virginia Ave.)

Removal of two parking meters at Broadway and E. 4th St. near Carnegie Library to eliminate a hazardous condition for motorists making a left turn from E. 4th St. onto Broadway.

The possibility of permitting motorists to make right turns from Walnut St. onto Bradshaw Ave. on a red light.

Elimination of a meter on the north side of E. 5th St. at Crook Alley to make it easier for trucks to turn into the alley for deliveries.

Painting of a stop sign on Dresden Ave. about 15 feet north of 6th St. to make it easier for motorists to make left turns from W. 6th St. onto Dresden.

An improved traffic control to halt traffic at the foot of Shady-side Ave. before entering the four-lane stretch of W. 8th St.

Closing the Ravine St. exit on Pennsylvania Ave. to eastbound traffic. (At present, the view of motorists heading east is hampered by a building on the northeast side and a retaining wall on the northwest side of the "Hill Rd.")

Banning left turns from Pennsylvania Ave. onto E. 4th St. to eliminate traffic tieups at the top of the E. 5th St. grade.

He was preceded in death by his wife, Mrs. Rose Hoesek Smolinsky, in 1941.

He leaves a daughter, Miss Rose Smolinsky of Cleveland; two sons, Tony Smolinsky of Irondale and Steve Smolinsky of Miami, Fla.; eight grandchildren, and four great-grandchildren.

Services will be held Monday at 11 a.m. at the Nativity of Our Lord Mission at Hammondville by Fr. Mitchell Wilamowski. Burial will be in Hammondville Cemetery.

Friends may call at the MacLean Funeral Home in Wellsville tonight and Sunday afternoon and night.

5 Appointments Made To Boards By Mayor

Four appointments to the Community Relations Board and a new member for the Board of Trustees of Carnegie Library were announced today by Mayor George E. Willshaw.

Reappointed to the Community Relations Board by Mayor Willshaw for three years were George Hargraves Jr., assistant school superintendent; James B. Moss, potter and former member of the Board of Education, and Mrs. Edna Jones, city school nurse.

Paul Standley of 306 Vine St., an insurance agent, was appointed to the board, also for three years, to succeed Richard Emmerling.

Lawrence W. Smith Jr., city attorney, was named to the library board to succeed D. A. Grafton, who resigned. The term will expire Dec. 31, 1969.

Fined For Speeding

NEW CUMBERLAND—Frank J. DeFranco, 48, of Weirton was fined $25 and costs for speeding by Squire John D. Herron in a hearing here Friday. The motorist was cited by Hancock County sheriff's deputies on West Virginia Route 2.

craft fire, blasting the Red River delta communications lines and knocking out one missile site.

The Navy sent out 34 missions from the Ranger and Hancock and hit the Khe Na Dong bridge 63 miles southwest of Hanoi, destroying an anti-aircraft site 42 miles southeast of Vinh and assaulting junks, roads and ferry landings.

Three MIG jet fighters came out to meet F105s and each made one pass, an Air Force spokesman said. But Phantoms flying high cover swooped down and the MIGs retreated into mist and cloud cover.

All planes returned safely, the spokesman said. There were no reports available yet on today's operations.

One Phantom F4B was shot down today near Can Tho in the delta. The crew ejected and was picked up unhurt.

B52 bombers were employed again today assaulting a Viet Cong troop concentration and an enemy headquarters. About the same time, three squadrons of jet fighter-bombers caught Viet Cong in the open about 100 miles northeast of Saigon and mowed down 44 of them.

Another U.S. pilot flying a Thunderchief also reported encountering MIG 17 jets after an attack on the Lang Bun railroad bridge about 120 miles northwest of Hanoi.

The pilot said his flight was returning from the attack when two MIG jets were spotted above and behind them. Although low on fuel, the American pilots began a turn and the MIGs fled toward Hanoi. Neither side fired a shot in the second encounter and the planes were never closer than 5 to 10 miles of the other.

In ground fighting, thousands of U.S. Marines and South Vietnamese troops engaged elements of a North Vietnamese army regiment today in the second straight day of heavy fighting six miles northwest of the central lowlands provincial capital of Quang Ngai.

With more than 300 of the enemy counted dead, the Marines and Vietnamese troops began tightening a wedge on the remnants.

The U.S. Marines reported killing 152 North Vietnamese and the South Vietnamese troops said they killed 172.

Marines estimated they killed another 160 while government troops claimed 200 more by heavy air attacks and artillery bombardments.

Allied forces reported light casualties.

The allies reported they captured 24 weapons including two anti-aircraft machineguns and six light machineguns.

Man's Car Stolen

Paul Ward, 2113 Ohio Ave., reported to police this morning that his 1964 Chevrolet Corvair was stolen from Jackson St. between 9 and 10:25 a.m. today. The dark green auto carried license L-136-F.

Pollution Expert Dies

DOVER, Mass. (AP) — Dr. Leslie Silverman, 51, a nationally known expert on air pollution, died Friday. Silverman was head of the Department of Industrial Hygiene at the Harvard University School of Public Health. He was born in Chicago.

Huge Mop-up Begins After Killer Twister

JACKSON, Miss. (AP) — "It'll take us a while to rebuild and the memories will always remain, but we'll bounce back," says Homer Howell, a survivor of the tornado which spewed death and destruction in Mississippi.

Howell's words were echoed by others today as the massive mop-up along with damage assessments, continued from the killer tornado which struck Jackson and rural counties to the east at dusk two days ago.

There were 61 known dead in Mississippi and 497 injured — 19 critically.

One man was killed and 11 others injured from the storm's final gasp near Tuscaloosa, Ala.

All sections of the two states that experienced tornado damage were designated as disaster areas Friday by the Small Business Administration, making possible loans for rebuilding at low interest rates.

"There are just not enough words to describe the horror and devastation the tornado caused," said acting Gov. Carroll Gartin, who estimated damage in Mississippi would exceed $12 million.

"It was one of the most horrible scenes I've ever seen," said Gartin, the state's lieutenant governor who acted for Gov. Paul B. Johnson — in Florida on an industry-hunting junket.

Gartin said Game and Fish Commission agents had been ordered to make a house-to-house tour in rural sections to check on people and conditions.

Some officials believed more victims might still be found.

Outside the Jackson metropolitan area, the hardest hit section appeared to be around Leesburg in rural Scott County. Several hundred dairy cows killed in the area were hauled away by trucks.

Class Holds Dinner And Names Officers

The Crusaders Class of the Oakland Free Methodist Church met Friday night at the Light and Life Fellowship room of the church for a coverdish dinner. The event honored Charles Masters Jr., who will be leaving soon for the armed services.

During the business meeting, the following officers were elected: Barbara Dray, president; Naomi Cowsett, vice president; Linda Richardson, secretary, and Sandy Muschweck, treasurer.

Sixteen were present. Guests were Juanita Burlingame, teacher and Tom Knight, assistant teacher. Betty Ward and Imogene Knight were hostesses.

Dollars For Scholars

For the fourth year the Dollars for Scholars campaign is under way here and in neighboring communities.

Because of a dedicated group of workers—from the executive board to the volunteers—the program has assumed greater importance each year.

No words can express the value of the project more properly than those of one who has benefited from assistance offered by Dollars for Scholars.

Yesterday's mail brought pertinent and timely comments from Roger Hicks, a local youth now enrolled at Bowling Green State University. His letter, which follows, speaks for itself:

"It is a March Sunday afternoon. You have your hands in dishwater in the kitchen. You are reading your paper. Or perhaps, you are looking at your television from your comfortable chair. Someone knocks at your door.

"Who could that be? you ask yourself.

"It is your neighbor, a volunteer, soliciting for 'Dollars for Scholars.' What do you do? Do you give a dollar, or two dollars? No, it isn't very much, just one dollar, but it would buy you three packs of cigarettes, or the same number of chocolate milkshakes!

"Should I give? It is sort of an investment. But wait a minute, isn't it more like an outright gamble? What do I get?

"You get nothing. However, a senior at East Liverpool High School may receive an opportunity to compete academically against other cities' seniors at an Ohio university! Maybe you watch him, or her, walk briskly to school every day, and don't realize that you can help a student.

"But my dollar won't do all that, will it?

"By itself, it will not. It will not do anything unless the 22,306 residents (1960 census) of East Liverpool each match your dollar!

"But shouldn't I match their dollars, too? It has to start somewhere, why not with me?

"Now you are on the right track! Of course, you're gambling. Who will win? Maybe 44 seniors will receive $500 each (total $22,000) to buy books and pay towards room and board for college.

"Oh yes, you can make a sure bet and keep your dollar in your pocket. You will always have it, and nothing else. But you know something? I'm certainly grateful someone bet on me, rather than cigarettes and milkshakes? You helped me."

Who's Afraid Of Daylight Time?

There is a fresh move afoot in Congress to put the nation on a uniform time basis. This time it might succeed.

It has flunked in the past because of local resistance from farm blocs with disproportionate influence in state legislatures and Congress.

But farm-bloc voting has been tailing off in importance. The farm population has dwindled.

Farm-bloc resistance to urban causes has been dwindling too as clear lines of demarcation were blurred by better transportation and communication.

Today, who knows whether a citizen who lives in the country and does part-time farming while earning the bulk of his living in a factory is a farmer or an industrial worker?

Today, the proverbial cow whose milking schedule once was supposed to control sentiment about sticking to Standard Time isn't as grossly over-represented as she used to be, to say nothing of modern methods of milk handling that obviate some of the difficulties of moving clocks ahead in springtime and setting them back in autumn.

Together with the declining power of the old-time foes of Daylight Saving is the rising influence of its friends, chiefly the nation's transportation interests. The confusion caused by time duality in railroad and airline terminals is beyond the comprehension of those who have not observed it. The unnecessary cost entailed in fouled-up communication schedules is fantastic.

It adds up to the inescapable conclusion that nationwide Daylight Time is long overdue and will be adopted as soon as the congressional votes are in sight.

Naturally, Congress can force it only on activities under federal control, but this would be a beginning and in all probability the beginning of the end of time duality. Eventually, the United States will be on Daylight Time from April 24 to the last Sunday in October and on Standard Time the other six months of the year. Why not now?

Relief In Sight

When a parking meter doesn't work, the paying customer complains — and rightfully so.

And when meters are 18-year-old, it can be assumed the complaints will mount in proportion to the period of service regardless of maintenance.

Those who feel they haven't been getting a fair shake can take heart from the fact that the city has called for bids on 500 new meters.

Their eventual installation should go far toward remedying an unsatisfactory situation which exists at too many municipal parking meters.

ed States afflicted with tornadoic storms? If so, is it more unrealistic then to think the shelters already provided for air raids might properly be used when storm warnings have been issued.

On the farms that marked the conquest of the Great Plains, cyclone cellars were universal. Farm families took refuge in them at the first sight of cyclone weather. The cellars were the forerunners of the air-raid shelters that came generations later — shelters that very well could be used for tornadoes when warnings are issued in time.

One wonders what would happen if the inhabitants of Jackson had streaked for the nearest air-raid shelters Thursday when the tornado warnings were issued. Would they have been given due credit for prudence? Or would they have been classified on the spot as some kind of nuts?

Air Disaster Shelters Needed

The United States needs air-disaster shelters. Every population center in the nation has an officially determined quota of air raid shelters. These hideaways are theoretically suitable for protection from a nuclear blast, though no one seriously believes they would be adequate for more than shelters from radiation and fall-out.

It must be assumed Jackson, Miss., where a springtime tornado wreaked death and destruction Thursday, has air-raid shelters. It must be assumed they are sturdy enough to withstand a tornado.

At the very least, being underground, they would protect human beings from collapsing buildings and flying debris. But they were not used for this purpose when the tornado struck, though tornado warnings had been issued long before the twister finally materialized.

Is it unrealistic to think air disaster shelters are needed in cities in those parts of the Unit-

The Speech At Fulton

Today marks the anniversary of Winston Churchill's Iron Curtain speech at Westminster College, Fulton, Mo.

"An iron curtain has descended across the Continent," Winston Churchill told his college audience. The Fulton address has to be acknowledged as one of Churchill's greatest — for even so great a man — and one of the century's finest.

The Iron Curtain Speech is memorable for more than than.

What marked the speech at Westminster College was its foresight. Churchill devoted his address to an urgent call for the solution of the problem of the atom bomb — at a time when the U. S. monopoly of nuclear weapons was intact.

That was three months before the U. S. plan for international control of atomic energy was submitted to the United Nations. The ensuing deadlock on atomic controls continues today, diminished not greatly by the agreement among the Soviet Union, the United States, and Britain on testing.

"The Dark Ages may return, the Stone Age may return on the gleaming wings of science, and what may now shower immeasurable material blessings on mankind may even bring about its total destruction. . . . Do not let us take the course of letting events drift along until it is too late. . . . What is needed is a settlement, and the longer this is delayed, the more difficult it will be and the greater our danger will become."

Churchill rejecting as "criminal madness" the idea of releasing the atom bomb to the United Nations at that time. First he insisted on "a good understanding on all points with Russia" under the N.N.'s "general authority."

The crux of the speech was Churchill's appeal for a "fraternal association" of the United States and the British Empire and Commonwealth, which he said would give the world "an overwhelming assurance of security."

"Fraternal association requires. . . ." the old Lion said in the tones he had learned at Harrow, "the continuance of the intimate relationship between our military advisers. . . I should carry with it the continuance of the present facilities for mutual security by the joint use of

Something To Think About

Death Lurks Over Saigon's Docks

By Victor Riesel

This is the first of two columns based on confidential reports made available by U.S. labor leaders recently returned from Saigon, to which they had flown to help relieve the strangled docks.

This has all the overtones of early Fu Manchu and Limehouse literature. Tragically, this report is of real life flesh and blood and any resemblance to fiction is coincidental.

This is the story of a warning by one of South Viet Nam's Cabinet ministers to members of an American team of expert longshoremen to be careful lest they be shot. And not by the Viet Cong.

The minister, who has been working closely with four specialists dispatched by the International Longshoremen's Association (ILA) to unchoke the port of Saigon, is also worried that he himself will be shot.

Victor Riesel

THE MINISTER made it plain in personal conversation with the group of American cargo specialists that the threats to his life and the danger to the U.S. volunteers spring from their 10-week efforts to turn the port into an efficient series of docks so vital civilian and military cargo can be unloaded and sped into the interior.

This is vital so rice can go through to smash the black market.

This is urgent so military equipment — aside from ammunition — can be quickly expedited.

This is essential so some $300 million worth of U.S. aid shipments, ranging from steel bars to transistor radios, can be distributed for the comfort of the troops and not the profit of the black marketeers.

This is pressing so that the American economy can cease losing a million dollars a day because some ships are a month or more in unloading. And some vessels still are backed up as far as Manila.

APPARENTLY THE FOUR-MAN team, which flew out in mid-December under the leadership of ILA President Thomas (Teddy) Gleason, has been stepping on toes right up to the heels.

Mr. Gleason told this column the other day that he had had difficulty getting to see the Vietnamese port director, "Teddy," veteran of 50 dockside years, had asked for special gear, special registration of some 5,000 longshoremen, issuance of identity cards to the men, regularity of work and coordination of Saigon shipping agents and local stevedores.

When he left, three weeks after his arrival, he had had virtually no cooperation.

He then began receiving weekly reports of continued frustration from the team he had established in Saigon.

The most recent report startled him — and he doesn't startle easily after decades on the Manhattan docks — once a tougher jungle than some of those in Viet Nam. After reading it he contacted the U. S. State Department speedily.

THE REPORT disclosed that on Jan. 28 the minister to whom I referred above sent word he wanted to talk to the American longshoremen. I will not identify the minister here because I have been told bluntly he would be killed if I did.

The State Department now knows his name. So do the union officials. On the afternoon of Jan. 28 he told the team, led by John Byrne, a supervising stevedore on leave from the U.S. Lines' docks here, with 36 years of experience, that they should be careful of their safety.

The minister told them that they were trusting people who were not their friends. He advised that many influential Vietnamese wanted them to go home.

At this point he added dolefully that he himself expected to be shot "at any moment."

Technically, he warned that it would take more than five years to register Vietnamese longshoremen unless the ILA men undertook the task. The ILA men replied that this was the jurisdiction of the Saigon Port Authority.

They said they'd do the job if they were given the authority and power to get regularized labor regularly working the freighters so they could be unloaded at more than the current 40 per cent capacity rate.

Grimly, he said he'd do what he could. A week later they were with the port director.

They now are pushing the project of formation and registration of uniform dock gangs (equally numbered bands of cargo handlers).

There is much riding on their success — and safety.

EDITOR OF THE REVIEW:

Members of the Parent-Teacher Association of No. 16 School want to take this opportunity to thank the Southern Local Board of Education and Mr. Jack Baker, our local superintendent, for having such concern for the welfare of our children.

We appreciate the closing of the school for the three days of Jan. 31, Feb. 1 and 2 due to the deep snow and hazardous driving conditions.

It is possible that they averted tragedies in many homes and maintained good health in a number of cases.

The best way to tell if a child's new pair of shoes fit is to let him walk around in them a bit. Pull a clean pair of old socks over the new shoes while he is walking around in them within the house. Then, if they do not fit and have to go back to the store, the soles will be unmarked.

Judicial Problem

By David Lawrence

Disrespect For Courts

Everybody is supposed to respect the judiciary. The courtroom is presumed to be the symbol of fairness and justice but the kind of judges who are appointed to the federal bench from time to time has aroused resentment throughout the country.

Even members of Congress are displeased with the present system whereby only a single name is submitted to an American Bar Association committee for approval or disapproval. Often times the proposed nominee is a man who may be honest and conscientious in every respect but who is not qualified to serve from the standpoint of a knowledge of the law and the principles of justice.

The national conference of local bar association presidents a few days ago held a meeting in Chicago at which Ben R. Miller, a member of the board of governors, made a brief speech about the need for improving the method of selecting the federal judiciary. He argued for a panel of names to be submitted to an American Bar Association committee so a selection could be made between several individuals rather than to render an opinion on only one name.

MR. MILLER READ a number of the headlines from newspapers across the country apropos of the Morrissey appointment a few months ago. Some of these headlines read "Another Unqualified Judge, Political prize, Politics and Judgeship, Too Much Quid Pro Quo, Cronyism Again, Disregarding the Judiciary, Outrageous Appointment and Patronage and the Bench. Mr. Miller added:

"Even if the organized bar did not itself recognize a need for a substantial improvement in the method of selection of the federal judiciary, the very fact that the lay press and public feel so strongly that some drastic change in the method of selection is needed should of itself call for a change. For to regain, or to hold, the confidence of the public in our federal judiciary, the public must have confidence in the method of their selection.

"The fact is, of course, that the American Bar Association has been on record for years as urging a drastic change in the method of selection of federal judges, by the creation of an independent, non-partisan commission of lawyers and laymen to submit a panel of names to the president when vacancies occur or new judgeships are created."

UNDER THE PRESENT system, as Mr. Miller pointed out, partisan political activity becomes the primary criterion, particularly with respect to U.S. District Courts. He noted that under both parties the appointments have been almost 100 per cent from the party in power. He declared:

"If the particular senator entitled to this patronage is of the president's party and not in his disfavor, the selection is by the senator and generally as a political reward or political favor. Otherwise it's by the party organization of that state.

"Even if he wished to do otherwise the office of the attorney general could not refuse to agree to this political pressure if that person is considered by even a majority of the members of the ABA Federal Judiciary Committee to meet minimal qualifications. Senatorial courtesy then requires confirmation of the minimal qualified.

"The able judges in our federal judiciary, and of course there are many, are there despite the existing system and not because of it."

WHAT IS BEING ADVOCATED now is that the selection be made by a nonpartisan, independent commission composed of lawyers, including some retired state and federal judges and some prominent laymen. They would gather together the names of the best qualified individuals in the district where an appointment is to be made and give a detailed report on each to the president of the United States before appointments are made.

Many of the candidates for judgeships are active in politics and have spent more time in partisan activity than they have in arguing cases that concern fundamental issues of constitutional government. It's surprising, on the other hand, how many judges have turned out to be fair-minded in their rulings despite the preconceptions that they have developed in politics. It's the presence of too many who have not lived up to judicial principles that is causing the whole question of selecting competent judges to be facing the American government today.

Through The Years

From The Review Files

THIRTY YEARS AGO — The 19th anniversary of the founding of the Lisbon Lodge of the Daughters of America was observed with a dinner meeting.

A large crowd attended an amateur hour at Wellsville High School under the auspices of the Girl Reserves, with Darrell Fultz as the announcer.

Miss Joyce Kay Thorne, Richard Homer Gray Wed

Miss Joyce Kay Thorne became the bride of Richard Homer Gray during a double-ring ceremony Feb. 20 at 7:30 o'clock in the Bethel United Presbyterian Church.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Bruce Thorne of Salineville. The bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Homer Gray of Wellsville.

The Rev. William Harper, assisted by the Rev. Bruce Davis of the Covenant United Presbyterian Church, officiated for the double-ring ceremony.

Baskets of white carnations, ferns and candelabra formed the altar background. Miss Janet Lewis of Wellsville was organist and Mrs. Harry Graham of Toronto soloist.

GIVEN in marriage by her uncle, Lodge Thorne, the bride wore a floor-length gown of Chantilly lace. The fitted bodice was fashioned with a scalloped Sabrina neckline and long, pointed sleeves. The bouffant skirt featured an apron front and tiered back.

Her double queen's crown of sequins and pearls held a butterfly veil of silk illusion. She wore a single strand of pearls, the gift of the bridegroom, and carried a white Bible topped with an arrangement of lily-of-the-valley and satin streamers centered with a white orchid. All the familiar traditions were observed.

Mrs. Mike Benza of Parma was matron of honor and Miss Sue Catron of Wellsville bridesmaid. They wore full-length gowns styled with emerald green antique satin bodices and pale green crepe skirts. The bodices were designed with scoop necklines and elbow-length sleeves. A Watteau train offered back accent. Headpieces were emerald green Dior bows and veils. They carried cascades of carnations.

Marlene and Darlene Graham, twin cousins of the bridegroom, were flower girls and appeared in gowns of emerald green satin with matching headpieces. Robert B. Thorne, nephew of the bride, was ring-bearer.

James Kimble was best man. Ushers were Robert Delposen, Walter Thorne and Robert Thorne.

Late Winter Walk

During Jaunt Along Beaver Creek Dormant Nature Reveals Beauty

By HARRY STEWART

ICE, SNOW, A plant starting to push up through the ground, seed pods, an abandoned bird's nest.

All common, ordinary things, but they can be very interesting. Prove it to yourself by taking a short hike, and to make it even more interesting, take along some youngsters. They have a knack of seeing things adults fail to notice.

Snow piled six to eight feet high along the banks of Beaver Creek greeted my two sons, Jeff and Daniel, my eldest daughter, Pamela, and me on a recent jaunt along the old Montour Railroad.

The day was mild for this time of year, and although it was necessary to wear heavy clothing we could feel the warmth of the sun on our faces while viewing the snow banks.

The creek was a brilliant green and the face of the ice and snow seemed just like a small glacier that had moved down to the edge of the water. The ice was sliced off perfectly straight in places. Shaded, wooded areas were almost clear of snow, but in the open, exposed directly to the sun, lay the huge banks of snow.

HERE AND THERE large frozen sections protruded out over the swiftly flowing water—an open invitation to try knocking them into the water with rocks. Even I was caught up in this and tried my luck. The ice proved to be much more solid than it appeared, and only small chunks could be loosened.

While lifting rocks from the banks, Danny made a discovery. A small plant had started shooting up through the ground beneath the rock. Purple in color, it was strange to see.

Even more strange for Danny to comprehend, because here we were in a woods where everything appeared dead, but life was just an inch or two under the ground.

About the only signs of green were the mosses, lichens and ferns. Everything else was brown, but nature had done its customary good job of combining all these to provide beauty at this time of year.

Signs of a bygone ice jam could be seen all along the creek banks. At one place, large cakes of ice had been carried far up into the woods from the edge of the shoreline and left there by the receding water.

Slowly melting away, some gave the appearance of large mushrooms. The ice seems to be made up of large verticle crystals, even if the ice is standing on "edge." Another effect of the sun.

FAR UP THE hillside away from the creek, rock cliffs were covered with ice formed from the surface drainage.

Some of the rocks were completely covered with this glistening sheath, given the appearance of a frozen cascade.

Naturally, some of these had to be explored, because it looked like ice was covering the mouth of caves. These usually were just crevices two or three feet deep into the rock, but viewed from afar, they led us to believe otherwise.

Breaking off large icicles for a better view of what is beneath also can be fun.

At one point, the boys climbed higher up the hillside along the face of a rather large protuberance of rock. It was slippery and the snow was about a foot deep. They found they could pull themselves up, but getting down was a different matter.

Danny solved this—sit down and use your backside as a sled. You get wet, but you also descend in a hurry.

Icicles Prove Irresistible Attraction For Hikers Jeff And Pam Stewart Of Harvey Ave.

By the time we returned home, both boys had wet, muddy clothing.

BEAVER CUTTINGS and the small saplings dragged to the edge of the water led to a search for the home of the big flat-tails. None could be found.

A small bird's nest in a little bush about two feet above the ground started minds to wondering if it escaped the many predators. The tiny nest, not as large as a fist, was tightly woven from pieces of grass.

Pam is a collector. Odd shaped rocks, leaves, seed pods, ferns, branches, chips from the beaver cuttings, anything. Especially rocks.

By the time we arrived home she had quite a collection. Then it was time to try and determine what each was.

One seed pod opened had small leaves folded inside, each with the appearance of velvet and just as soft.

DID YOU EVER want to climb up a bank or a hill, just to see what was up there. Maybe nothing, but at least you satisfied the urge. Besides you got some good exercise. Often we have this feeling, but don't take time to do it.

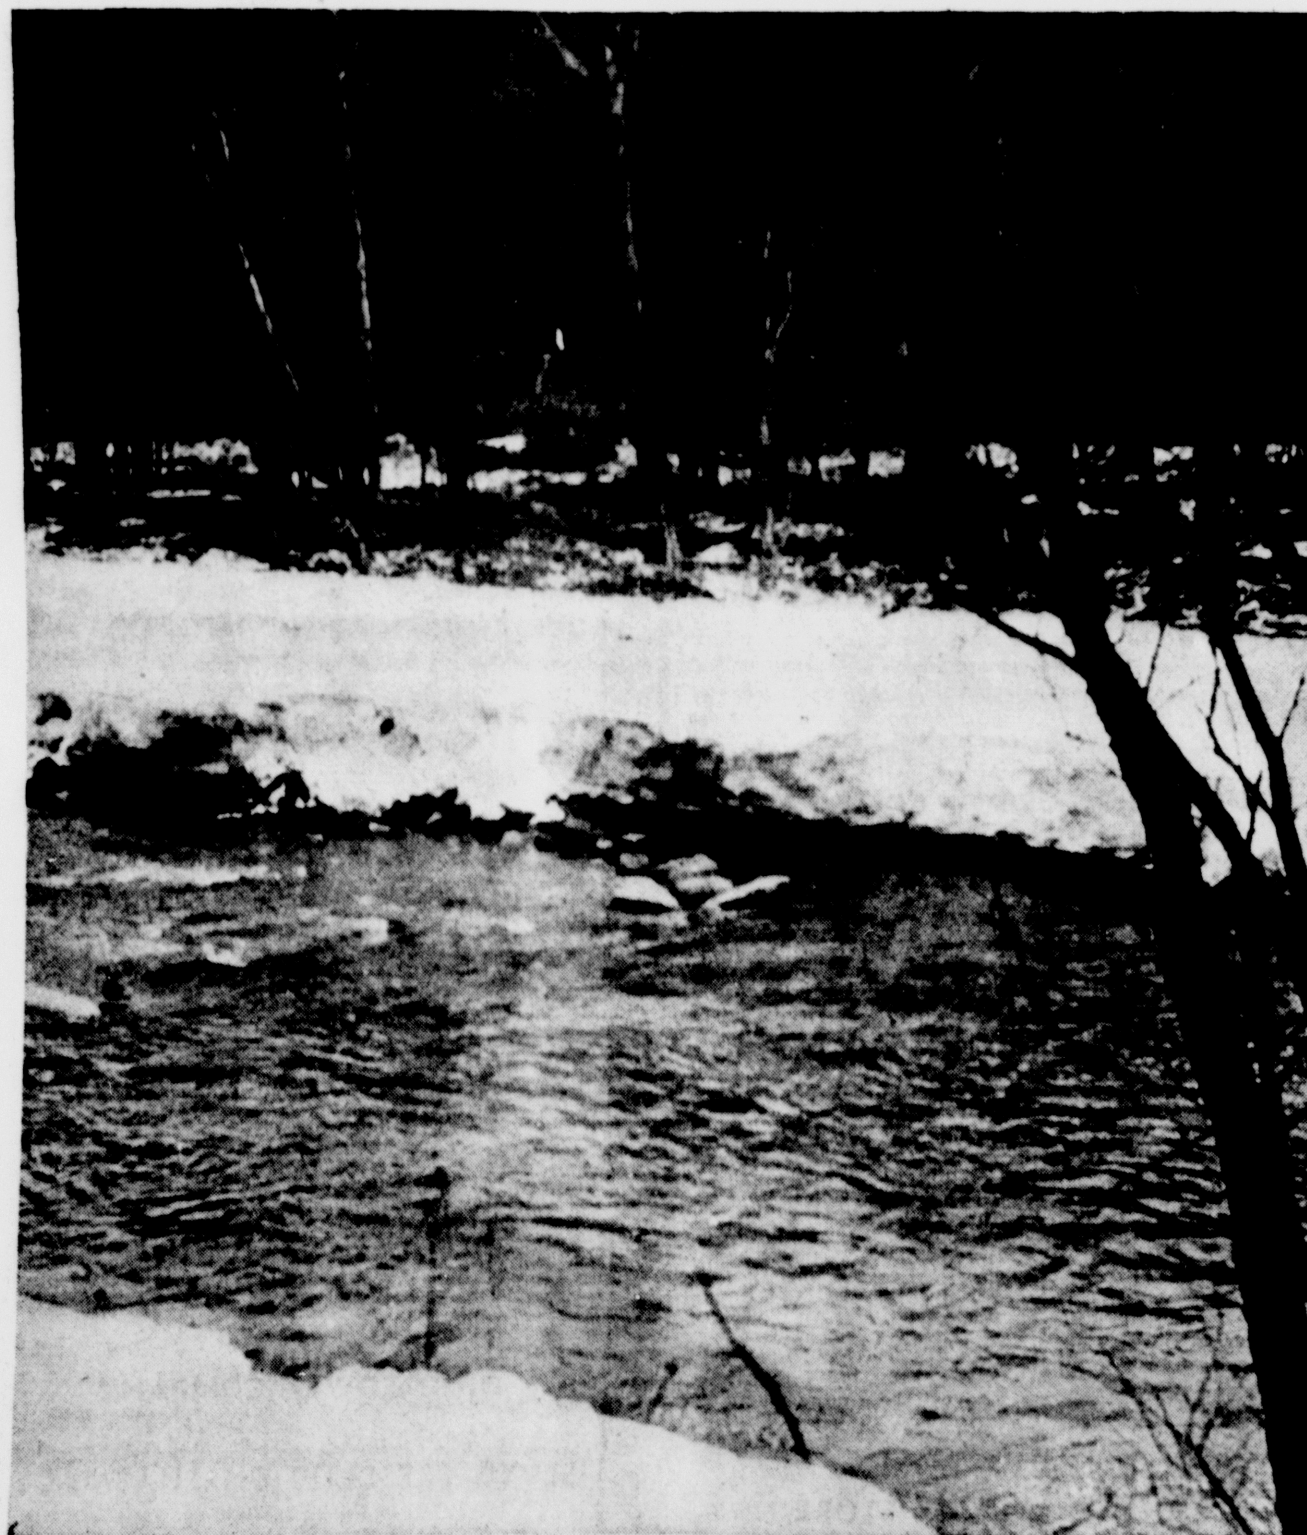

Go on a hike. Take your time, walk along leisurely. Stop and investigate. It's surprising how many ordinary things can prove interesting. Also do some listening. The woods isn't nearly as "quiet" as you might believe.

Wear comfortable clothing. Don't try to be fashionable. Chances are you won't meet anyone else, and if you do, they will be dressed just as you. If you don't have heavy walking shoes, it's a good idea in the spring to wear a pair of boots over your low cut oxfords.

Take along your camera and binoculars. Carry a walking stick. It comes in handy for many things. If you plan on spending several hours, a sandwich, a piece of fruit, a candy bar and a canteen of water is a necessity.

'International' Card Club

By CLARA HALL

A trifle weary of routine card playing, this group of "female fatales" decided to put a little spice into regular club sessions by dressing in the native costumes of other countries while enjoying the usual two tables of 500.

Members of the Pace Setters Club are shown in an Egyptian scene which they staged at a recent meeting.

Mrs. Dee Vernacini of Dixonville, seated, represents famed Cleopatra.

Mrs. Lureha Calhoun of St. George St. pours some refreshment. Mrs. Janet Sell reads a scroll, as Mrs. Kathy Hutchison of Ohio Ave., lower left, and Mrs. Docia Powell of Dewey Ave. watch admiringly, and Mrs. Jeannie Calhoun of Dixonville waves a cooling fan.

WHEN THE current season of "The Pace Setters Club" began, the gals decided they were tired of the usual club routine and decided to throw in a little variety by focusing program themes on interesting countries.

The Egyptian session was held at the home of Mrs. Janet Sell when the project for the evening was the making of jewelry, with a prize awarded to Mrs. Hutchison for the best finished product.

Refreshments symbolized the country — fruit salad and raisin bread. Pictures are taken at each session to provide humor for the scrapbook which is being compiled by the historian, Mrs. Evelyn Bayer of Westfield Rd.

An Italian cuisine was served at the Feb. 23 meeting with Mrs. Dee Vernacini. Spaghetti, lasagna and chicken cacciatore were featured. Mrs. Sell received a prize awarded for the most original article made from macaroni.

At the initial fall meeting with Mrs. Jeanne Calhoun, officers were elected with Mrs. Lureha Calhoun named president; Mrs. Sell, vice president; Mrs. Vernacini, secretary - treasurer, and Mrs. Jeannie Calhoun, reporter.

CLUB DUES were set and when the fund builds up, members will be treated to a night out of town, such as taking in a performance at an area playhouse or having dinner in a nearby city. Members attended this session in hostess gowns they created for themselves.

Luncheon consisting of hot meat ball sandwiches and salad, was served "coffee house" style when the group met with Mrs. Lureha Calhoun and spotlighted "England." Using a "beatnik" theme, they dressed accordingly and composed poetry.

Mrs. Sell won a prize for her entry entitled "Fun In Club." Club is fun, that we know. We have a good time wherever we go.

We laugh, we talk, and sometimes sing.

In our club we do most anything.

Each time we meet, it's a different dress.

It's hard to pick the one that's best.

Prizes are given each time, you know.

Mine always manages to be quite low.

And after all is said and done.

The hostess asks, "Who has the next one?"

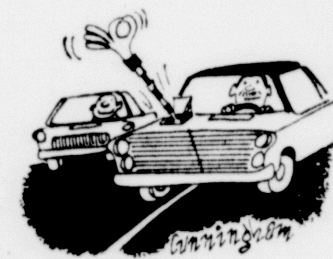

At the Christmas party with Mrs. Kathy Hutchison, the United States was featured with the menu including hot dogs, baked beans and cake.

Gowns were worn by the ladies with Mrs. Lureha Calhoun, dressed in the most outstanding attire.

A hairdresser, she styled her hair like a Christmas tree, completely sprayed with the white snow. Holiday corsages were made during the project session.

Cards may come and costumes may go, but it is a cinch these gals will retain a lot of good times in their memory.

Pardon Me!

NEW YORK — The German Automobile Club has developed a new signal for motorists, which it hopes will be universally adapted, according to the American Automobile Association.

The signal consists of extending thumb, forefinger, and second finger at another motorist or pedestrian, much in the manner of a child's cops and robbers game. Actually, the signal is meant to mean "excuse me" by motorists who err.

Judy plans to attend college, but is not yet sure where she will go.

Kitchen Favorites

CHERRY CHOCOLATE CAKE

1 can (1-pound) pitted dark sweet cherries, drained and syrup reserved
1 tablespoon cornstarch
¼ cup orange marmalade
¼ to ½ teaspoon cinnamon
1 package (8-ounces) cream cheese, softened
3 tablespoons orange juice
1 tablespoon confectioners' sugar
8-inch square chocolate cake (one layer)
Blend reserved syrup with cornstarch, marmalade and cinnamon in saucepan. Cook, stirring constantly, until sauce boils ½ minute; chill.
Blend together cream cheese, orange juice and sugar; spread on top of cake. Add cherries to chilled sauce. Pour over cake and refrigerate until ready to serve.

Cooking Hints

If you are baking cupcakes without paper baking cups, grease only the bottom of the cupcake tins. This helps them to rise nicely without running over.

Yeast dough may be refrigerated over night and used the next day only if there is some sugar in the recipe, as yeast plants must have some food to make them grow.

You And The Law

The telephone rang in the office of the high school principal.

"There's a bomb set to explode in the gymnasium at noon. I'm not kidding," the youthful, but gruff-sounding, voice said. Then the caller hung up.

Although he believed it probably was a prank, the principal could take no chances with the safety of his pupils. It was already 11:30, so he had little time to investigate. The school was evacuated. Police and firemen were called in to search the gymnasium. The call was a false alarm, as no bomb was found.

IN ADDITION to the school time lost and danger to those coming to the school on an "emergency" basis, considerable money was expended because of the false alarm.

Ohio law calls for fines of up to $200 or a prison term of up to six months, or both, for persons convicted of making such false or misleading reports by telephone, mail, telegraph "or other means of communication."

The law covers much more than schools, however. The law relates to false information given about attempts or alleged attempts "being made, or to be made to damage or destroy any building or other real or personal property for the purpose of interfering with its uses for educational, religious, charitable, residential, business, transportation, or civic objectives..."

IN ADDITION, the law also applies to such threats which intimidate any person working in any of the tasks enumerated in the law, such as teaching, ministering, driving a truck, etc.

A person making such a false report also might be violating a federal law. For instance, there are laws concerning false bomb reports made of fines running into thousands of dollars and prison terms of many years can be imposed for violations here.

Odd Facts

Never make the mistake of making wooden porch or window boxes too small. Flowers just will not do well in tiny ones. Make them large enough to hold enough soil and moisture for the plants.

When your child has a cold and you cannot wash her hair, give her comb and hairbrush a daily bath and it will help to keep her hair clean.

Home gardeners should not allow water from higher ground to flood their plots. Diversion drains are recommended.

Hospital Test Helps Protect Babies From Danger Of PKU

By BYRON EELLS

Wednesday will mark the first anniversary of what City Hospital officials refer to as a "Red Letter Day" for tomorrow's children in the East Liverpool area.

Just a year ago the first test was made on newborn babies on a voluntary basis to determine if they had inherited phenylketonuria, a tongue-twisting name that is even more serious than it sounds.

Commonly (and thankfully) called PKU, it is a metabolic disease which leads to severe mental retardation unless treatment is started speedily.

PKU babies are born with a defect in their ability to use certain protein elements in food which leads to brain damage and retardation.

FORTUNATELY, THE disease is very rare, afflicting only about 1 in every 10,000 babies born in the United States. Unfortunately, its effects can be devastating.

The abnormality arises from the body's failure to manufacture the enzyme which metabolizes the amino acid phenylalanine and leads to an excessive amount of the fluid in the blood. Irreparable brain damage follows within a few months to several years.

Although a small percentage have near normal intelligence, the majority have IQ's of 30 or less.

Although they usually develop as beautiful children, the disorder is accompanied later by symptoms of extreme uncontrollable irritability, loss of motor control in 80 per cent, convulsive epileptic seizures in 25 per cent along with frequent outbreaks of dermatitis and lack of pigmentation.

PKU has been receiving special attention because it can be treated by a modified diet.

City Hospital originally was selected to participate in a pilot study of the disease by the Ohio Health Department. Today every baby born at the hospital is tested since Ohio is one of 25 states that has made the screening mandatory.

RESEARCH, MASS screening studies and clinical experience show two factors are most important in control of PKU — early detection and assistance to parents in maintaining a proper diet for the child.

Mrs. Dorothy Glynn of Cannons Mills, a nurse in the obstetrics department at City Hospital, uses a filter paper to secure three drops of blood for a PKU test as Mrs. Donna Smith of Newell, another nurse, holds a newborn infant. The test now is mandatory in Ohio.

More than 2,600 hospitals throughout the country now are testing for PKU, using a test devised by Dr. Robert Guthrie of Buffalo Children's Hospital.

Each baby is to be tested twice. The first test is on a blood specimen taken from the baby 48 hours after the first feeding and before it is discharged. There is no charge for materials or the test, both being a service of the hospital and the State Health Department.

The infant's heel is punctured and blood is squeezed onto three small circles on a filter paper. The hospital tests are mailed weekly to the State Department of Health laboratory for analysis.

The baby's mother or her physician is given an envelope containing another filter paper marked for the second test which is given in the physician's office when the infant is four to six weeks old. The same procedure is followed.

HOSPITAL officials stress the importance of the follow-up test to confirm the presence or absence of phenylketonuria.

"Presumptive positive" or questionable results are reported to the infant's physician and to the PKU director at the hospital. "Presumptive positive" is defined as a certain percentage of phenylalanine or higher in the infant's blood.

If phenylalanine is found in the blood and based on the percentage found by the test, the physician is contacted by mail or telephone. If a low percentage is found, a new filter paper specimen is requested from the infant and a specimen also is requested from the mother to check on "maternal PKU."

If the percentage is high, the physician is contacted by phone and two kits are sent, one to collect blood specimen from the infant and the other for a specimen from the mother.

THE TREATMENT consists of a strict dietary regimen controlled by frequent tests of blood levels of phenylalanine.

The dietary control product is low in proteins but is very expensive. It is furnished by the state to those unable to finance it.

It is efficient in correcting the imbalance and deterring its effects, but time is vital because the treatment is limited by the speed of administration. Brain damage begins with the first protein ingested.

The treatment is designed only to prevent the ravages of the disease, not to correct its aftermath.

Staff nurses and the faculty and students of the School of Nursing attended a PKU seminar at Lisbon sponsored by the state health department.

In the words of Miss Nell Robinson, superintendent, "If we catch only one positive case, the program is worthwhile." She regards the start of the program as one of the most significant developments at the hospital last year.

Stamps In The News

Three colorful new stamps have been issued by Pakistan to honor the three branches of its armed forces. The purpose of the stamps was to pay tribute to its Army, Navy and Air Force which engaged in a 17-day war with India.

The 7 paisa light blue, light brown, khaki and red is a "Salute to Our Army" and shows two tanks and a soldier in battle. The 15 paisa light

Included are: "There's a 'The Designs That Didn't Make It,'" "Stamps That Glow," "Sports and History on British Stamps" and many others. Jacques Minkus, who heads the stamp firm which published the new journal is to be congratulated.

The cost per issue is 25 cents. One year's subscription is $1. Copies may be purchased directly by writing to "Minkus Stamp Journal," 116 W. 32 St., New York, N. Y. 10001.

MALAYSIA HAS issued three new stamps to commemorate the Third South East Asia Peninsula (SEAP) Games. The inaugural games were held at Bangkok in 1959. Participating countries were Burma, Laos, Malaya, Singapore and Viet Nam.

The second in the series was held in Rangoon in 1961. The third SEAP Games were held last December in Kuala Lumpur. The 25 cents green and black shows athletes in action. The 30 c violet and black depicts a runner. The 50 c blue and black illustrates an aquatic diver. Each stamp also bears the symbol of SEAP, six interlocking rings.

GRENADA, ONE of the four islands known as the Windward Islands in the Caribbean Sea, has issued a new set of 15 stamps, reports the British Crown Agents Stamp Bureau in Washington.

The islands were discovered by Christopher Columbus at the end of the 15th Century. The 12 lower values feature local scenes and products. The $1 shows the Grenada Crest, $2 a portrait of Queen Elizabeth, $3 a map of Grenada. Each of the lower value bear a vignette head of the Queen.

Home Hints

By Ann Overturf
Columbiana County Home Economist

For the last year, the clothing market has been humming an exciting new tune—Permanent Press or Durable Press. All types of permanent press garments for men, women, and children are appearing on the market and undoubtedly we will be seeing more.

Permanent Press is not just an improvement of the wash and wear process. In fact, permanent press involves a complete new method. The fabric is treated with a chemical before the garment is constructed. After construction it is cured with heat to retain its shape.

These garments are said to be completely wrinkle resistant, to maintain their original shape and to hold any creases for their lifetime. The observant consumer may raise his eyebrows skeptically about the permanent claim. What are these advantages and limitations of these permanent press garments?

THE ADVANTAGES are rather obvious. They retain both creases and their shape. They resist wrinkling. Totally, they provide easy care.

One limitation is that alterations for fit are difficult, if not impossible. The creases are permanent so letting out seams and hems is not very acceptable to the consumer.

Sometimes garments can be shortened or made smaller satisfactorily. Because alterations are difficult, retailers tend to carry more sizes.

To care for permanent press garments it is very important to observe the hang tag washing instructions. Tumble drying produces the best results. Garments should be removed immediately after washing and drying.

If they are allowed to remain in heated equipment, wrinkles develop. These wrinkles are very difficult to remove once they are formed.

Some permanent press garments have a tendency to lose their color along the crease lines, hems, or pleats. Abrasion causes this crocking off of color in wear areas. Turning the garment inside out during laundering may help to reduce this color loss.

The color range in permanent press items has been rather limited, because some dyes change color in the intense heat involved in curing the garment. Manufacturers are working to overcome this limitation.

At the present time most permanent press garments are a polyester and cotton blend. Like all synthetics the polyester develops grease spots easily. Then these grease spots are difficult to remove.

The cotton fiber has been necessary for the chemical reaction to occur, but the treatment weakens it. The polyester has been used to give strength.

Currently 100 per cent cotton permanent press fabric is being developed. Someday, sheets and tablecloths may be permanent press, too!

Three To Face Jury

In Case At Weirton

WEIRTON — Three Pittsburgh men have been bound over to the April term of the Hancock County grand jury on charges of attempted breaking and entering of a Weirton tavern.

Gus Kontos, 22, his brother, Nick Kontos, 19, and Regis Donahue, 22, were arrested Feb. 24 by police on charges of the attempted burglary at the Broadview Inn, 3659 Pennsylvania Ave.

Hearings for the three were held in city court. They are free under $1,000 bond each.

Youth Given Term

In Fatal Stabbing

RAVENNA, Ohio (AP)—A 19-year-old Akron youth was sentenced to 1-to-20 years in the Ohio Reformatory Friday on a manslaughter charge in the fatal stabbing of Lance Williams Jr., 17, of Akron.

James Tucker, 19, pleaded guilty to the charge last November.

MARY GORDON
Will Appear Here Tuesday.

Travel Adviser To Speak Before Two Clubs Here

Mary Gordon, TWA travel adviser, will present two talks here Tuesday.

She will appear at the Rotary Club's noon luncheon in the Travelers Hotel and at a meeting of the East Liverpool Women's Club at 8:30 at the Country Club.

Her visit has been arranged by H. Jud English, executive manager of the Columbiana County Motor Club.

Miss Gordon will discuss "World Travel" during her Rotary appearance and "How to Take the Lug Out of Luggage—How to Properly Pack" during her appearance before the Women's Club.

Elmer Eiferd will be program chairman for the Rotary meeting.

Miss Gordon regularly tours areas on TWA routes across the U. S. and in Europe, North Africa and Asia to update her previous research on travel facilities.

McCrea Retires As Conservation Head In Hancock

NEW CUMBERLAND — Walter McCrea has retired as Hancock County conservation officer after more than 30 years service with the Law Enforcement Division of the Department of Natural Resources.

A native of New Cumberland, McCrea has served almost half his lifetime with the department in Hancock County. He joined the Conservation Commission in the early 1930's as a game protector.

Car Strikes Girl

Crossing Street

A 15-year-old girl escaped serious injury Friday night when struck by a turning auto while crossing W. 3rd St. at the intersection with Jackson St.

Pamela Davis, daughter of Mrs. Carlton Davis of 146 W. 2nd St. was treated at City Hospital for a chin laceration after being struck by an auto driven by Robert E. Halstead, 34, of Hookstown R. D. 1.

Halstead took the girl to the hospital, police said. The Hookstown man told officers he halted on Jackson St. and waited for traffic to clear and then started to turn east on W. 3rd St. He said he saw a shadow and applied his brakes, but hit the girl at the same time.

Miss Davis told officers W. 3rd St. was clear of traffic. She said she noticed the car on Jackson St., but believed he would wait so she started across the street.

Ohioan, 25, Indicted

In Guillotine Threat

AKRON, Ohio (AP)—A 25-year-old Norton man accused of planning to guillotine his estranged wife was indicted by the Summit County Grand Jury Friday on a charge of assault with a dangerous weapon.

Lester Bolin took his wife, Jeanette, 21, to an abandoned house here last October planning to guillotine her, but lost his nerve, police said.

Workers Given Raise By Ohioville Council

Ohioville Council approved an hourly pay boost to road workers and the installation of storm drains for Fairlane Dr., Meadowbrook Estates, during its meeting Thursday at the borough building.

Council voted a 5-cent-an-hour increase for the road employees retroactive to Jan. 1, citing "the fine job done by the workers."

Willard Bradshaw, a representative of Daniel C. Baker, Inc., the borough engineer, was given the green light on construction of storm drains on Fairlane Dr. A hard surface also will be laid on the road after the drains are installed. The program is estimated to cost between $9,000 and $11,000, a spokesman said.

Louis Poff, who was appointed to the Planning and Zoning Commission in February, presented a letter of resignation "because of personal reasons."

Council deferred action on appointing a replacement.

A committee was appointed by F. Paul Dawson, council president, to project plans for industrial development and to provide recreational facilities for the borough, Mayor Elmer R. Gifford will head the committee, which also includes Councilman Michael Hohan and Byron Balco, Lester Chaffee, Michael Selak and George Sauer, borough residents.

Bids for slag and street oil were opened and referred to the borough engineer for study.

The council decided to ask the State Department of Highways to take over Tuscarawas Ext., which begins at the junction of Tuscarawas Rd. and Smiths Ferry Dr. and continues in a westward direction to the Midland - East Liverpool Rd. The council will request widening and resurfacing of the extension.

Kenneth Miller requested the installation of a street light at the junction of Route 68 and old Route 168. Council referred the request to the utilities committee.

Mayor Gifford reported borough police received 23 complaints, made three arrests and destroyed six dogs.

"The dogs were destroyed in Dog Hollow near Glasgow Borough, where bands of wild dogs have been jeopardizing the safety of residents and tracking game," he said.

Bills totaling $2,906 were approved and paid.

State Sues Woman's Estate For Aid Furnished Husband

Municipal Judge Samuel M. Chertoff is scheduled to hear a civil action Tuesday in which the Aid for the Aged Division of the State Welfare Department seeks to collect $2,003.90 from the estate of an East Liverpool woman for aid which it alleges it furnished her husband prior to his death.

The state's action names as defendant Owen D. Kountz of 1271 Erie St., administrator of the estate of Mrs. Lillie Kountz. It seeks to collect the sum, plus 6 per cent interest from Dec. 16, 1963, for payments which it claims it made to Mrs. Kountz's husband, John Kountz. Mr. Kountz died prior to his wife, the plaintiff and the defendant agree.

Charles A. Pike, Lisbon attorney, filed the action on behalf of the state. Kountz is represented by John B. McDonald, East Liverpool attorney.

The state's petition alleges that Kountz was named administrator of the estate on April 23, 1963, in Probate Court. It says that the state presented the claim to him in writing, but he rejected it on Dec. 16, 1963.

The petition adds: "Plaintiff says that the claim is based on aid furnished to John Kountz, husband of Lillie Kountz, who predeceased Lillie Kountz. Plaintiff further says that both John Kountz and Lillie Kountz signed the certificate of lien, which is recorded in the mortgage records of Columbiana County."

Said lien specifically provides that the real estate of either party will be liable for aid furnished to either party.

The petition then cites a section of the Ohio statutes which provides that "upon the death of a person the total amount of aid paid to said person, his spouse or either or both of them shall be a preferred claim against the estate of the deceased."

The petition alleges that such a claim shall have priority over other claims.

Hand Injury Results

In Hospital, And Jail

A North Side man received more transportation than he bargained for early this morning, police reported.

Robert W. Clark, 26, of 1065 Ephraim St. called officers shortly before 1 a. m. and asked to be taken to the hospital for treatment of a hand injury. He told Patrolmen Howard Frontz and J. W. Buckley that he became angry and slammed his fist into the bedroom door.

Clark was treated at City Hospital and then was taken to jail when the officers recalled that he was wanted on a warrant charging him with non-support.

Local Woman Hurt In Crash

An East Liverpool woman was listed in "fair" condition today at Rochester General Hospital after suffering a possible hip fracture in a two-car collision Friday in Raccoon Township.

Admitted to the hospital was Mrs. Bonnie V. Dawson of 199 Baum St., a passenger in an auto driven by her husband, Charles R. Dawson.

Dawson was treated and released after suffering multiple cuts and bruises.

The accident occurred at 10:25 a. m. when an auto operated by Mrs. Florence M. Roberts of 3005 Dutch Ridge Rd., Beaver, was traveling south on Route 18, rounded a sharp curve left of center and struck the car driven by Dawson, who was attempting a left turn off Route 118.

Mrs. Roberts escaped injury. State police at the Chippewa Township barracks said there were no charges filed.

Hospital Treats Two Youngsters Bitten By Dogs

Two children bitten by dogs were among seven persons treated Friday at City Hospital.

Matthew E. Simcox, son of Joseph Simcox of 310 Virginia Ave., Chester, was bitten on the left eyebrow.

James Anderson, son of James Anderson of Fisher Ave., was bitten on the chest.

Sam Roberts of 329½ Avondale St. suffered contusions of the right shoulder in a fall from a bicycle.

Theodore Fisher of Cincinnati was treated for contusions of the index finger received when he caught his hand between a cement block and the wheel of a car.

Franklin Newlin Jr., son of Franklin Newlin of 1945 Michigan Ave., suffered a laceration of the thumb when he caught it in a car door.

William Gene Fulmer, son of Ralph Fulmer of 1824 Allison St., fell while playing, cutting his chin.

Mrs. Bernice Deem, wife of Thomas Deem of Boring Ln., suffered a possible fracture of the toe when she dropped a stool on her right foot.

Hang permanently pleated wash-wear clothes sopping wet and allow to drip dry. Each pleat may be held at the hem line with a clip - type clothespin. This helps the weight of the water to pull out wrinkles and keep pleats in place.

Meeting Will Be Held On Disaster Planning

Means of establishing a coordinated program to meet local disaster situations will be discussed at a gathering of area community leaders and agencies March 15, called by the Area Red Cross Chapter.

Governmental leaders of all towns and subdivisions as well as representatives of public and private agencies involved in disaster work have been invited to the meeting at 7:30 at the Ohio Valley Gas Co. building near Glenmoor.

J. Norman Niceley, Red Cross chapter chairman, said the American Red Cross is recognized as the national voluntary agency with definite responsibilities in time of natural disaster, but there are others with specific responsibilities.

He said the purpose of the meeting is to discuss what duties organizations have, how a community plans for handling a disaster and what steps need to be taken so a smooth operation will guarantee as little loss of life and suffering as possible.

James O'Donnell, disaster representative from the Red Cross Eastern Area headquarters at Alexandria, Va., will speak and lead the discussion.

He has had years of experience in disasters, in preparedness planning, handling the emergency period and in rehabilitation.

SALUTING

A Community Effort

We salute . . .

those groups and individuals who were responsible for the selection of Swaney Airport as the site of the new Columbiana County Airport.

The cooperation shown by these organizations and men has proven once again that working together to achieve a goal makes progress a certainty.

Time spent on this project alone deserves a hearty "thank you"—and on behalf of the citizens of East Liverpool AND Columbiana County, we want to publicly thank these men for their tireless efforts to see that the best possible site was chosen; we believe it was.

The new airport joining with new schools, new businesses, new industry and expansion provides another step forward toward the East Liverpool Area of the future.

Woman's Jailed, Will Face Charge As Auto Wrecks

A Wellsville woman was cited for drunk driving following an accident at 1 a.m. today at the intersection of Route 213 and the Irondale - Hammondville Rd. in Hammondville.

The Wintersville State Highway Patrol said Linda Kaye Hawk, 24, of 1812 Nevada St., Wellsville, was being held at the Jefferson County Jail in Steubenville on charges of driving while under the influence of alcohol.

She was headed south on the Irondale Rd., when she applied her brakes at the intersection. The car slid through the stop sign, across Route 213 and into the Hammondville post office parking lot, where it hit a concrete building protector, officers said.

She escaped injury. Moderate damage resulted to the car.

Kelley To Be Speaker For Weirton Meeting

WEIRTON — Wesley Kelley, manager of the Strip Steel Department of the Weirton Steel Division of the National Steel Corp., will speak at the annual spring meeting of the Employees 25-Year Club next Saturday.

Kelley, a member of the 25-Year Club, also will present awards to 245 club members who have completed 35 and 30 years of service with the company.

Robert McAllister, club president, said 87 men will receive awards in recognition of 35 years of service and 158 will be honored for 30 years of service.

Kelley, a native of Library, Pa., worked for the Pittsburgh Coal Co. and in the construction business before he joined Weirton Steel in 1927 in the strip steel hot mill.

When you sew rayon jersey, you need to have a seam as elastic as the material. To obtain this, keep the tension of your machine loose and stretch the fabric a little as you sew.

Leonard Firestone Weds In California

CARMEL, Calif. (AP)—Leonard K. Firestone of Beverly Hills, the millionaire member of the Firestone Rubber Co., who recently outwitted two kidnappers who intended to trade him for $2 million, couldn't escape from the former Mrs. Stuart A. Heatley.

They were married here Friday and are on a European wedding trip.

It is the second marriage for both. Mrs. Heatley was a widow. Firestone's first wife, Polly, died last year. Firestone is 58. His bride is 50.

Real Flying Saucers

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (AP)—Mrs. Priscilla Hamilton, 88, was awakened by an intruder armed with a knife and gun. Demanding money, the burglar forced Mrs. Hamilton into her kitchen, whereupon she picked up dishes and assorted crockery and began throwing them at the surprised thug. He fled amid a shower of flying dishes. Mrs. Hamilton was unhurt.

Fire Department Puts Condemned Sign On Building

A two - story frame building at 110 W. 4th St. occupied by the Military Order of Cootie has been condemned and must be demolished within 30 days, Fire Chief Alfred R. Van Dyne has announced.

Van Dyne said placards have been posted on the building owned by Charles Sayre of 569 Hill Blvd.

The building was condemned by Van Dyne in November when he was assistant chief. The chief said one stay was granted Sayre and then an extension was granted Thomas Lanam, who he said owns the contents, to work out arrangements.

The city health department and the State Department of Liquor Control also have issued orders against the building, Van Dyne said.

Meanwhile, Van Dyne said he has been notified by mail that a hearing will be held Wednesday at 9 a.m. in Municipal Court for Dorothy B. Forster on a charge that she failed to comply with an order of a deputy fire marshal.

A "tear down or repair" order was issued Oct. 15 following an inspection of the two - story frame dwelling at 530 College St. No action was taken and Van Dyne signed the affidavit against the woman on Nov. 22.

The case was continued until Dec. 8, but no action was taken. Solicitor Joseph W. Cooper requested the case be put on the assignment docket for this week, court officials said.

Deputies Eye Link Between Car, Entering

LISBON — Sheriff's deputies today are checking the possible linking of a breaking and entering at the West Local School Friday night or early this morning and the theft of a car near Chester.

The stolen car was found at East Rochester near the school from which intruders had taken a number of keys, deputies said. The intruders broke a window at the school to enter and ransacked the offices before leaving by a door.

The 1960 coach owned by Charles Jackson of 598 Harker Ave., Newell, was taken from the Terrace Lanes near Chester. The front of the auto was damaged in hitting a stop sign at East Rochester.

Never starch the hem when laundering sash curtains. The rod can then be pushed through without tearing the curtain. A finger from an old glove slipped over the end of the rod makes it go through much easier.

Tape Recording Played For Panel In Domer's Trial

CANTON, Ohio (AP)—A tape recording in which Robert K. Komer told his wife he was "going to do something to cause a large amount of money to come into being" was played before a three-judge panel Friday during his retrial for first-degree murder.

Domer, 47, is accused of burning to death Howard F. Riddle in an alleged plot to defraud life insurance companies of $228,000 to straighten out his tangled business operations.

Two state witnesses testified concerning Domer's illegal financial operations. Samuel Krugliak, a Canton lawyer, said Domer showed him a cancelled second mortgage on his home which was later found to be legally in effect.

Testimony of Dexter Baer, auditor of the Federal National Mortgage Association, was read from the first trial. Baer testified Domer's manipulations of accounts cost his agency $38,140.

Riddle's body was found April 23, 1963 in Domer's burning car, about three weeks after Domer disappeared from home. Domer turned himself over to authorities five days later. He was sentenced to die in the electric chair in November 1963, but an appellate court ruling has resulted in retrial.

Three Ohioans Killed In Michigan Collision

MONROE, Mich. (AP)—Three Ohioans were killed and two injured, one critically, in a two-car collision here Friday night. The occupants of both cars were from Ohio.

Police said one car, driven by 21-year-old Donald Lambert of Toledo, jumped the median strip of Interstate 75 and collided with the second car.

Those in the other car killed were Mrs. Zella Stahl and her niece, Susan Hehr, 15, Elmer Stahl, 60, was critically injured but Verna Brown, 16, escaped serious injury. All were from Reynoldsburg, a Columbus suburb.

Pittsburgh Policeman Acquitted Of Murder

PITTSBURGH (AP)—A Pittsburgh patrolman charged with murder in the death of a man shot while fleeing from a dice game raid was acquitted Friday night.

An Allegheny County court jury found patrolman Robert MacBeth innocent in the death of Louis Hardy last Oct. 23.

The prosecution charged that MacBeth violated police procedure by firing a warning shot in the air, then took a deliberate shot at Hardy.

Injuries Prove Fatal

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Otto M. Solkovic, 78, of Pittsburgh, died Friday in Shadyside Hospital, of injuries sustained when struck by a car in the city's Oakland section Monday.

Junior Editors Quiz on AMERICAN INDIANS

FOLSOM SPEARHEAD

POSSIBLE ROUTE OF INDIAN ANCESTORS

THROUGH ICE AND SNOW, THE HUNTERS FOLLOW THEIR PREY

© 1966 Collier

ANSWER: Many experts believe that the ancestors of the American Indians came from Asia some 20,000 years ago, when the Asian and American continents were probably connected with a land bridge between Siberia and Alaska. In 1925, a remarkable find was made near the town of Folsom, in New Mexico. Several flint spear heads, beautifully shaped and chipped, were mingled among the bones of a kind of bison which lived in the Ice age and is now extinct. It is supposed that many of the big game animals of the Ice Age, such as the bison and the hairy mammoth (which we show in the picture) may have wandered over the land bridge with ancient man following them — for the early men were able to exist by killing such large game. Then tribes of such hunters moved down the north and south American continents, roughly as we have shown by the white arrows. About 9000 years ago, some of these people had worked their way down to the southern tip of South America. In eastern North America, the Indians remained mostly as hunters and in the plains area there were buffalo to kill until the days of the white men. But in the southwest, Indians planted corn and built settled pueblos, where they lived in much contentment.

FOR YOU TO DO: What happened when the migrating ancestors of the Indian reached Central and South America? This is a stirring story. Find out about it.

Ann Brooks of Greenville, S. C., wins today's combined prize of Compton's Illustrated Science Dictionary plus $10 cash for this question. Mail yours on a postcard to Junior Editors in care of The Review.

Studebaker Ends 64-Year Auto-Making

DETROIT, Mich. (AP) — Studebaker Corp. wrote a reluctant finish Friday to its 64-year career in the auto-making business.

President Byers A. Burlingame said: "While I sincerely regret the necessity of discontinuing Studebaker cars, the irreversible losses being incurred permit no other course."

His announcement confirmed what everyone in the auto business had thought for some time—that Studebaker was fighting a losing battle in its effort to stay in the auto business.

Sales, which had hit a high of 268,229 in 1950, had gone steadily downhill. Less than 19,000 Studebakers were sold last year.

The company made several drastic moves in recent years in efforts to keep the automotive division alive. All failed.

One was the move in December, 1963, of Studebaker's car-building operations from South Bend, Ind., to Hamilton, Ont. The theory was that the Hamilton subsidiary plant was more modern and economical than the old plant at South Bend and that Canadian wages were somewhat lower than those in the United States.

In another move, Studebaker continually reduced its car offerings and in the 1966 line offered only 10 models at prices ranging from $2,200 to $3,000.

The company shunned the glamour-car market and the horsepower race and concentrated instead on a campaign to provide conservative, economical transportation. But it misfired in the market place.

Oddly enough, the closing of Studebaker's auto facilities came at time when virtually all other operations of Studebaker were booming.

The company had diversified in recent years, and its output now includes home appliances, electrical generators, commercial refrigeration, oil and fuel additives, lawn and garden tractors and tire studs, and reinforced plastics for aerospace and military use.

Studebaker, founded in 1852, won its first national recognition as a maker of wagon wheels, particularly the caissons used by the Union Army in the Civil War. It built military vehicles in both World Wars.

Levies Ruled Support For County Airports

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — County airports can be supported by tax levies but multi-county airports can't be, Atty. Gen. William B. Saxbe has ruled.

Saxbe's opinion was made Friday on a request by Greene County Prosecutor Marshall E. Peterson. The attorney general said that if more than one county is included in a regional airport authority, each county's support is limited to money appropriated from its general fund.

Billboard, Junkyard Hearing Set April 5

WASHINGTON (AP) — The U.S. Bureau of Public Roads will listen to Ohioans' opinions of billboards and roadside junkyards at a public hearing scheduled April 5 in Columbus.

The hearing is one of a nationwide series that will precede establishment of advertising and junkyard controls under the Highway Beautification Act. Federal funds will be available for states that comply with minimum standards set by the government.

Will Seek Pledges

CLEVELAND (AP) — The Cleveland Committee for a Sane Nuclear Policy has announced it will ask voters to sign pledges calling for a scaling down of the Vietnamese conflict and urging negotiations with the Viet Cong.

Hikes Student Fees

BOWLING GREEN, Ohio (AP) — Student fees will be raised $60 per semester at Bowling Green State University beginning next fall. The fee increases were voted Friday by trustees.

SCHOLAR FUND PLANS COMPLETED. Final arrangements for the district's "Dollars For Scholars" campaign which starts Sunday with a house-to-house solicitation were made this week by district chairmen. Left to right are Mrs. Eugene Seely of Chester, Charles Wilfing of Wellsville, Mrs. Anne Jester of Newell and Mrs. Robert Patterson of Beaver Local.

2-Car Wreck Injures Five

Five were injured, including a Lisbon area girl, in a two-car accident Friday at 6 p. m. on Township Rd. 765, six-tenths a mile south of Route 45, according to the State Highway Patrol at Lisbon.

Officers said the crash involved cars operated by Raymond E. Ossman Jr., 20, of Salem R. D. 3 and Robert Lee Wood, 17, of Kensington.

Ossman, who was cited for reckless operation, was headed north when he struck Wood's car as he went over a hill crest. Ossman's car then went off the right side of the highway and into a ditch. It traveled along the ditch 258 feet and struck a culvert, coming to rest back on the highway, the patrol reported.

Both drivers complained of minor injuries. Paul C. Guy, 23, of Hubbard, a passenger in Ossman's car, also had minor injuries. Loretta Blackburn, 16, of Lisbon R. D. 4 suffered contusions of the right cheek and Marcia Adams, 16, of Salem R. D. 3 contusions of the nose and forehead. Both girls were passengers in the Wood car.

All were taken to Salem Central Clinic for treatment.

Innocent Plea Given In Kickbacks, Theft

PAINESVILLE, Ohio (AP) — Lake County Engineer Frank N. Riley, the first Democrat ever elected to the post, pleaded innocent Friday to charges he received kickbacks from employees and embezzled $460.90.

Riley, 59, was arrested following a secret indictment by the Grand Jury. He was released after posting $1,000 property bond.

"In reference to the charge of accepting a reward for an appointment, I've never received a dime from anybody," Riley said.

Singer Due To Begin Life Term In Prison

CLEVELAND (AP) — Singer Paul A. Bruno, found guilty of shooting to death Joseph Horay in a Parma Heights cafe, will be taken to the Ohio Penitentiary next week to begin serving a life sentence.

Bruno's motion for a new trial was overruled Friday.

Chester-Newell Area Girl Scout Sunday Set

Girl Scout Sunday will be observed in the Chester - Newell Neighborhood with a meeting of Scouts and parents at the First Christian Church in Chester at 2:30 p.m.

Newell Junior Troop 497 will be in charge of the flag ceremony, with Brenda Morgan, Peggy Summers, Peggy Bennett, Kim Krider and Evelyn Liddle taking part.

The Girl Scout laws will be recited by members of Chester Junior Troop 488.

Miss Irene Cross, district adviser, will present a film, "Open Your Eyes," illustrating services which Scouts can provide in the community.

Each troop will bring its contribution to the Juliette Low World Friendship Fund, named in honor of the founder of Girl Scouts, and used for an international exchange of Girl Scout leaders and members.

Troop sponsors will be recognized.

The planning committee for the meeting consists of Miss Sue Wilson, representing the Cadettes; Mrs. Richard Bryan, Junior Girl Scouts, and Mrs. Nelson Campbell, Brownies.

Refreshments will be served and crafts will be on display. Girl Scouts will attend their own churches in uniform Sunday morning. Girl Scout bulletin covers have been provided the churches.

During the ensuing Girl Scout Week, troops will hold special meetings. Crafts will be displayed at Dale Allison's Insurance Agency in Chester and at Geer's Variety Store in Newell.

In charge of displays are Mrs. Alvin Allison of Chester and Mrs. Donald DeLong, Mrs. Junior Morgan and Mrs. Harold Acres of Newell.

Training for new leaders will be held Thursday from 6:30 to 8:30 at the First United Presbyterian Church in Chester, under the direction of Mrs. Betty Bell of Steubenville.

Southern Local Spelling Contest Winners Listed

Winners of the Southern Local School District seventh- and eighth-grade spelling contest Friday have been announced by Supt. Jack Baker.

They include Rick Howell, Rosemary Wargo, Terry Webster and Julia McCord, eighth-graders at Salineville; Peggy Day, seventh-grader at Wayne; Deborah Smith and Darlene Jarvis, eighth-graders at Highlandtown; Alan Swearingen, eighth-grader at No. 16 School, and Dana Cameron and Lila Morris, seventh-grader at No. 16.

Alternates are Eddie Stewart, No. 16 seventh-grader, and Curtis Ewing, eighth-grader at Salineville.

Loren Ruff was pronouncer for the two-hour competition, and Mrs. Ruth Frischkorn, Mrs. Janice Allmon and Mrs. Barbara Marra were judges.

Proxy Votes Sought For Control Of Firm

WASHINGTON (AP) — Two groups of stockholders intend to solicit proxy votes in the coming fight for control of the First Republic Corp. of Long Island, the Securities and Exchange Commission said Friday.

The corporation's holdings include luxury hotels, office buildings and industrial complexes in several states. One industrial holding is the William Moore Terminal Warehouse in Newark, Ohio.

Ground Breaking Set At Youngstown U.

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio (AP) — Gov. James A. Rhodes will break ground Tuesday for a $5 million science and engineering building for Youngstown University.

University officials said Friday construction will begin immediately on the five-story structure which will contain 48 laboratories, 30 classrooms and 8 research and development laboratories.

2 Bound Over In Entry Case

Two Beaver County men waived preliminary hearings Friday afternoon in Municipal Court and were bound over to the Grand Jury on charges they attempted to burglarize a safe early Monday morning in the Veterans of Foreign Wars home.

Nick Tepovich, 38, of 489 Virginia Ave., Midland, and Louis F. Ancrile, 23, of 1313 Midland-Beaver Rd., Industry Borough, both entered not guilty pleas at arraignment before Judge Samuel M. Chertoff.

The two were represented by court-appointed counsel, as both claimed they were indigent when taken before the judge Thursday morning. Ancrile was represented by Charles Lang of East Liverpool and Tepovich has as his counsel William Telzrow Jr. of Wellsville.

The court set a $2,500 bond for each. Unable to post surety, they were returned to jail to be transferred to the County Jail at Lisbon to await Grand Jury action.

In the appearance Thursday, Judge Chertoff had continued the hearings for the two until next Tuesday morning. However, since counsel had been appointed, the two decided to return to Municipal Court yesterday afternoon.

Police said the two were taken into custody shortly before 6 Monday morning. Sheridan Pollock, custodian of the veterans' post home, reported he heard a "thumping" noise when he began to unlock the front door. He summoned police, who said they found Ancrile and Tepovich battering on a big safe in the office.

Club Will Hear Talks By Pike And O'Hanlon

Charles Pike, Lisbon attorney and a member of the County Election Board, and Frank R. O'Hanlon, director of elections, will discuss election laws and procedures during the meeting of the East Liverpool Area Women's Republican Club Monday at 7:45 p. m. at the Travelers Hotel.

Plans also will be completed for a banquet April 27 at which Thomas A. Ireland of Cleveland will speak. Mrs. Phyllis Eaton, president, will preside.

Fire Agreement Renewal Slated For Council Vote

Legislation authorizing a three-year renewal of East Liverpool's mutual aid fire protection agreement with Wellsville is scheduled for action in City Council's first March meeting Monday night at 8.

The agreement has been in effect many years. It provides one community's fire equipment will respond to a major conflagration in the other, if the need arises. Wellsville authorized renewal of its agreement with East Liverpool a few weeks ago.

Two pieces of legislation will be presented authorizing a call for bids on annual supplies.

One authorizes purchase of a year's supply of gasoline, oil and other material for the vehicles in the fire, incinerator, street and police departments, plus 2,000 feet of guardrail for use of the street department.

The other would authorize the Board of Public Utilities to call for bids on a year's supply of water meters and chemicals used for water treatment at the filtration plant.

U.S. Recognizes Regime In Ghana

WASHINGTON (AP) — The State Department has recognized the National Liberation Committee regime that overthrew the government of Ghana's President Kwame Nkrumah.

Officials said that K. Y. Boafia, charge d'affaires of the Ghanaian Embassy, was called to the State Department Friday and handed a routine note expressing U.S. hopes for "continuation of friendly and mutually beneficial relations" between the two countries.

Press officer Robert J. McCloskey said the handing over of the note constituted "U.S. recognition of the Ghanaian government of the National Liberation Committee."
